ANNUAL MEETING

20

17

GRAND HOTEL

POINT CLEAR

July 12-15

Welcome to the 2017 Alabama State Bar Annual Meeting!

A few weeks before the 2016 Annual Meeting in Sandestin, I was finalizing the agenda that I wanted the bar to pursue during my tenure as state bar president. As I reviewed the ambitious agenda, I asked myself what did all of these projects have in common. Some of the agenda items dealt with helping members of the Alabama State Bar, other items were directed at helping people whom lawyers serve and still others involved helping our bar.

At the same time, I had just finished teaching a lesson on Luke 10, the story of The Good Samaritan. With that story in mind and with the agenda before me, it was clear that this year would be devoted to the idea of “Love Your Neighbor.” With the approaching 2017 Annual Meeting, my year at the helm is almost complete. The 2017 Annual Meeting is a culmination and reflection on how well we loved our neighbors this year and what we can do to improve. I am glad we can celebrate our achievements this year and determine how we can carry forward this idea during our annual meeting at the Grand Hotel in Point Clear.

My family absolutely loves spending time here. It exudes an aura of warmth and southern charm. Visitors are relaxed and wonderfully content as they stroll around the beautiful and historic grounds of the Grand Hotel. The activities available at the hotel cater to those who prefer doing very little to those who want to be adventurous. For example, some will want to enjoy the world-class spa while others will want to take advantage of a fishing expedition in the bay.

In this setting, we will gather together to enjoy fellowship and learn. The meeting this year is programmed around four tracks – Business of Law – Technology, Future of the Profession, Helping/Service to Others and

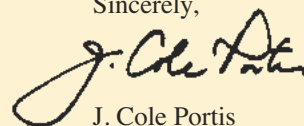

Mind, Body, Spirit, Wellness. Some of the speakers include:

1. Dr. Jack Hawkins, who will give us insight into the future of education and how it affects the legal profession;
2. Brent Buchanan, president of Cygnal and one of the most well-respected political strategists in the nation, talking about public service in the political arena;
3. Ashby Pate, an exceptional Alabama lawyer, who will inspire all of us to “Be the Light;”
4. Pam Bucy Pierson, an extraordinary teacher, helping us understand the business of being a lawyer;
5. Michael Ethridge, a visionary lawyer from South Carolina, who created and developed the best health and wellness program among bars in the United States; and
6. Attorney General Steve Marshall, who possesses the integrity and intellect to pursue justice and mercy on behalf of Alabamians.

In addition, there will be some wonderful opportunities for each of us and our families to enjoy fellowship together. I am most looking forward to the President’s Closing Night and Children’s Party. The food will be good and the children’s activities will be fabulous, but the highlight will be the band, The Main Attraction Band. This band from Atlanta will ENTERTAIN you and your family. I know that my wife and kids will likely be the first ones on the dance floor.

I hope you greatly enjoy the annual meeting this year. I look forward to spending time with you.

Sincerely,

J. Cole Portis

Making Your Case with a Better Memory

(1.5 hours MCLE credit)

Azalea Ballrooms C-F

Speaker: Paul Mellor, Success Links,
Richmond, VA

General Session: Our speaker presents highly interactive, informative, and fast-moving seminars on memory skills throughout America. His passion for teaching has helped improve the minds of attorneys and legal professionals by showing them they can be more productive and efficient with a better memory. Participants will take with them the ability to remember names and faces, the confidence for getting through a day without the fear of forgetting and the knowledge and application to retain information. You'll learn from a memory master how fun and easy it is to remember names and faces, speak without notes and beat absent-mindedness. The answers are already in your head.

Wellness for the Profession:

Strategies and Activities that Work

(1.0 hour MCLE credit)

Grand Ballroom North

Speaker: R. Michael Ethridge,
Attorney at Law, Charleston, SC

The most intelligent, gifted, thoughtful, and ethical people we know are lawyers. Even though the actual practice of law can be crazy-making, lawyers themselves are a rather remarkable group. Nevertheless, our work can be soul-killing, and our profession is frequently maligned. Why is it that there is so much suffering among those involved in the practice of law? How can such a remarkable group be held in such low regard in our communities? And what's to be done about it? Most importantly, what would happen if lawyers began to engage each other in honest conversation around these questions? We start this conversation today.

Lawyers in Search of a Soul: Building a Better Profession

(1.0 hour MCLE credit)

Magnolia Ballroom 4

Speaker: R. Michael Ethridge, Attorney at Law, Charleston, SC
Mike has spent the better part of the last 30 years earning his living in the world of litigation. His practice focuses primarily on the representation of insurance companies and their insureds. As a civil trial lawyer he has litigated cases in state and federal courts throughout Georgia and South Carolina, serving as lead counsel in numerous jury trials in both states. Over the years of maintaining a busy litigation practice, he has observed how difficult this profession can be. Even though he is still engaged in the full-time practice of law, he is committed to helping lawyers find ways to live lives that are healthier, more balanced and much more fulfilling. That is a lofty goal of most Alabama lawyers. Come hear from one of your colleagues in another state who might not have all the answers, but who has begun some serious exploration of the questions.

Ethridge

Best Ways to Handle Social Media in Your Law Practice

(1.0 hour MCLE credit)

Magnolia Ballroom 1

Speaker: Keith Lee, Associate's Mind, Birmingham Publication after publication states that "social media continues to take the world by storm as millions of people communicate and network on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, LinkedIn, YouTube and individual blogs every day. Its reach now extends to the practice of law, and has led to an explosion of state and federal court opinions involving some aspect of social media. Lawyers cannot afford to ignore the impact social media has on their practices. Older lawyers who prefer not to engage stand to lose clients through online marketing and face sanctions or even malpractice claims by failing to keep up. Younger lawyers well-versed in the ways of online communication may be so cocky that they run afoul of ethical issues that can likewise lead to sanctions." KEYNOTE PRESENTATION: Future of the Profession: How the Delivery of Legal Services Affects Main Street's Bottom Line

(1.0 hour MCLE credit)

Azalea Ballrooms C-F

Speaker: Judy Perry Martinez, Former Chair of the ABA Commission on the Future of Legal Services, Of Counsel, Simon, Peragine, Smith & Redfearn, LLP, New Orleans, LA

Martinez

The legal profession is in the midst of rapid change. The influences of not only technology but innovative thinking are bringing forth new delivery models, new regulations, and new players. Individual lawyers, law firms, in-house law departments, and bar associations must lead in ensuring that the best of what the legal profession has to offer in terms of quality, efficiency, and ethics is at the foundation of innovations. Join us as Judy Perry Martinez, former chair of the ABA Commission on the Future of Legal Services, and current special advisor to the newly created ABA Center for Innovation, shares her view on what the future holds and how you can provide greater access to legal services and grow your bottom line.

Introduction to Lawyer University: Overview of Courses Available – Marketing, Technology, Business – Planning and Trends in Substantive Law

(1.0 hour MCLE credit)

Magnolia Ballroom 2

Lawyer University was created to provide Alabama State Bar members with an easy and inexpensive way to obtain the skills they need to thrive in the changing legal climate of the twenty-first century. Lawyers must now juggle business planning, client development and marketing, and law firm technology, while trying to find time to practice law. In addition, they have to cope with a shifting legal landscape that sees some practice areas disappearing while alternative legal services providers, such as LegalZoom, move in to provide consumer services that were once “bread and butter” work for law firms. Come learn what Lawyer University can do for you.

Sponsored by the Lawyer University Task Force and the Practice Management Assistance Program of the Alabama State Bar
