

C. Samuel Todd

Vulcan Materials Company
1200 Urban Center Drive
Birmingham, AL 35242
(205)298-3757
samtodd@vmcmail.com

Sam is a magna cum laude graduate from Princeton University where he received his degree in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. He was executive secretary for the Undergraduate Student Government, a member of the University Cottage Club and the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. He was co-chair and moderator for the Sustained Dialogue on Race Relations. Sam graduated magna cum laude from the University of Alabama receiving his Master of Business Administration and his Juris Doctor. He won first place at the John A. Campbell Moot Court Competition, and received the Hugo L. Black Scholar Award and the Order of the Barristers for Exceptional Performances in Moot Court. Sam was Developmental Editor for the Alabama Law Review and a member of the John A. Campbell Moot Court Board and the Blackburn Institute.

Sam worked with Bradley Arant Boult Cummings LLP in Corporate and Securities prior to joining the Vulcan Materials Company in January 2015. He oversees legal affairs for Vulcan's Central Division, which consists of operations in Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee. He assists with legal matters related to corporate procurement, finance and transportation management, as well as negotiates drafts and reviews various commercial agreements with customers, suppliers and other third parties. He also serves as a general legal and business advisor to the corporate management team. Sam is on the Board for the UAB Comprehensive Cancer Center, Collat Jewish Family Services, First Teachers @ Home, and Temple Emanu-El. He is a member of the Public Affairs Research Council of Alabama Roundtable, and the Rotaract Club of Birmingham.